REPORT OF MEMORIALS

C. J. LYNCH

Mr. Cecil Johnson Lynch was born in Lakota, North Dakota, December 23, 1896, his parents being natives of Canada, and he died in Flint, Michigan, on September 15, 1939. In the field of religion, Mr. Lynch was a member of the Roman Catholic church.

Mr. Lynch received his grade and high school education in Lakota. He entered the University of North Dakota, was graduated from the law department in 1920, and immediately thereafter was admitted to the Bar of this state. While in college, he was a member of Phi Delta Theta Fraternity, and of Phi Delta Pi law fraternity.

In 1925 Mr. Lynch was appointed deputy tax commissioner for this state and attorney for the Tax Commission; but in 1929 he moved to Flint in the state of Michigan, and upon being admitted to the Bar of that state, he practiced in the city of Flint until the day of his death.

On June 25, 1918, he enlisted in the Navy at Minneapolis; and he served in the Naval Aviation Department of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology until November 11, 1918, having the grade of Seaman of the 2nd Class. He was released from active duty as Chief Quartermaster on November 23, 1918, and discharged June 24, 1922.

On June 17, 1925, Mr. Lynch was united in marriage with Miss Mary Leota Hendershott in Bismarck, who survives him. Mrs. Lynch was admitted to the Bar in the state of Michigan, and is now a practicing attorney there.

Upon the death of Mr. Lynch, the Michigan State Bar Association prepared a memorial regarding him, from which we quote:

"Dramatics was one of Mr. Lynch's hobbies, and he had appeared in many plays with the Flint Community Players, an organization of which he was a member of the Board of Directors. He was also a member of the Board of Directors of the Michigan Children's Aid Society, of St. Joseph's Hospital, of the Flint Golf Club, of the Genesee County Bar Association, and a member of the Flint City Club and of the Elks' Club. He was a past president of the Flint Golf Club. He was a resident of Flint for only ten years but was widely known, and active in several civic organizations."

Mr. Lynch was keen-minded, active, affable, and sociable. He had the organizing instinct and ability; and during his ten years' residence in Michigan, he came to the front in the Bar of that state, and particularly in the city of Flint.

H. H. MCCULLOCH

Mr. Hugh Hawkins McCulloch, son of James T. and Hattie (Carnahan) McCulloch, was born at Pelican Rapids, Minnesota, January 1, 1894, and died of a heart attack at Washburn, North Dakota, October 10, 1939.

The family was of old Pennsylvania stock; and the father came to North Dakota in 1898, opening a law office at Washburn. The family remained in Bismarck for some time, but came to Washburn in 1902.

Mr. Hugh McCulloch's early schooling was obtained in the public schools of Bismarck, North Dakota, and Washburn, North Dakota; and he graduated from the Central High School of Minneapolis, Minnesota. Later, he entered the law department of the University of Valparaiso, graduating therefrom in 1914. While there, he was a member of the Alpha Upsilon law fraternity. Upon graduation, he came to Washburn and entered into a partnership with his father, which partnership continued until the time of his death.

On August 27, 1917, Mr. McCulloch enrolled in the Second Officers Training Camp at Fort Snelling; was called into active service as First Lieutenant of Infantry on November 27, 1917; was sent to Fort Sheridan, Illinois, and assigned to Company-K 41st Infantry; was instructor in the Reserve Officers Training Camp at Fort Sheridan until September 22, 1918; became Adjutant to the Commanding Officer of the Kansas City Motor Schools until February 4, 1919; was Assistant District Inspector of the Ninth District of Kansas City to March 25, 1919; and Assistant Professor of Military Science and Tactics of Wentworth Military Academy of Lexington, Missouri, until the time of his discharge, July 30, 1919.

Mr. McCulloch was one of the organizers of the Victor B. Wallin Post of the American Legion of Washburn, and was commander of the Post. He was a delegate to the national convention of the American Legion at Kansas City, and always maintained intense interest in the Legion.

Mr. McCulloch was a member of the Masonic Order, the B. P. O. E., and of the Sons of the American Revolution.

On April 7, 1929, he was united in marriage to Miss Claudia Sonnenberg, who, with the little daughter, Patricia Ann, survives him. In addition to his wife and child, he is survived by his mother and his three sisters—Miss Hazel McCulloch, head of the history department of the State Normal School at Minot; Miss Maxine McCulloch, head of the children's department of the public library at Decatur, Illinois; and Mrs. M. E. McCurdy of Fargo. Funeral services were held in the City Auditorium; and Hugh was buried in Riverside Cemetery, overlooking the Missouri River. The color guard of the Legion Post stood in attention, and the firing squad fired a salute as the flag-draped casket was lowered, committing the body to its last earthly resting place.

Like his father, James T. McCulloch, whose obituary is included in this report, Hugh was interested in the irrigation of the Missouri flats. His pet hobby, as we understand it, was the collection of Indian relics; and he was strongly interested in the welfare of the Indians in proximity to Washburn. So interested was he in this work that he was adopted as a member of the Arikara tribe.

Mr. McCulloch was interested in the development of the Bar Association of this state, and served for some time as president of the Fourth District Bar Association.

No better summing up of the character of the deceased, so as to show his geniality and sympathy, can be found than that which appeared in the Washburn Leader at the time of his death—"He will be missed in Washburn especially by the boys and girls, to whom he was always a friend. There isn't a child in Washburn that has not had Hughie treat him."

GEORGE F. DULLAM

George Francis Dullam, a member of the firm of Dullam and Young of Bismarck, died December 5, 1939, after a protracted illness.

He was born at Blaine, Illinois, December 23, 1867, his parents being of English descent. He was educated in the public schools of Boone County, Illinois, and was graduated from the Illinois State University in 1889. After his graduation, he entered the law department of the University of Minnesota, and was graduated therefrom in 1894, being admitted to the Bar in June of that year. For two years he held clerical positions in Minneapolis, and then opened an office for the practice of law at Waterville, Minnesota, remaining there until 1902, when he came to Bismarck. His life career continued in this state from that time until the day of his death.

In 1903 the law firm of Newton & Dullam was formed, later to be reorganized in 1911 with the addition of Mr. C. L. Young, and continued as Newton, Dullam & Young until shortly after the death of the senior partner, Newton, when Mr. Thomas Burke, now Judge of the Supreme Court, joined the partnership. The firm was then known as Dullam, Young & Burke. This partnership continued for about two years, and again the firm was known as Dullam & Young.

Mr. Dullam was a member of the North Dakota Bar Association and of the American Bar Association. His civic duties included membership on the Bismarck school board for several years; and during the World War, he was actively engaged in the Red Cross and other patriotic activities. He was a charter member of the Bismarck Rotary Club, and was prominent therein and in fraternal work.

For many years, Mr. Dullam was interested in the Masonic Order; and shortly before his death, received the honorary 33rd degree of the Scottish Rite.

During his sojourn in Bismarck Mr. Dullam was active in the Episcopal Church and was clerk of the vestry for several years.

On October 5, 1904, he was married in Minneapolis to Miss Edna W. Dennis, who survives him in Bismarck. Of his immediate family, one sister is living—Mrs. Ethel D. Knowles of Greeley, Colorado.

Mr. Dullam was noted for his interest in the legal profession. He was a wise counsellor, an industrious worker, and a man of integrity, ability, and high ideals.

JOHN KENNETH McDONALD

Through the death of John Kenneth McDonald, the younger members of the Bar have lost a prominent and rising young lawyer.

John Kenneth McDonald was born in Mandan, North Dakota, November 11, 1905. His father was the late Charles McDonald, former sheriff of Morton County, State Senator, and warden of the State Penitentiary. His mother, the former Miss Anna Murphy of Oldham, South Dakota, is still living.

John Kenneth McDonald studied pre-legal work at St. Thomas College in St. Paul, Minnesota; law at Georgetown University in Washington, D. C., for two years; and was graduated from the University of North Dakota with a Bachelor of Arts and a Bachelor of Law degree in 1927. He was admitted to the Bar in July of that year and was employed in the office of William Langer for a time, and was then employed in the office of Sullivan, Hanley & Sullivan, of Mandan. He also practiced law for several years at Fort Yates, Selfridge, and Mandan. He left North Dakota in September, 1937, to engage in private work at Glendale, California, and died there on December 12, 1939.

D. J. McLENNAN

Mr. Duncan J. McLennan, states attorney of Rolette County, died in Rolla, February 13, 1940. He was born at Cottonwood, Minnesota, November 30, 1879, the son of John and Jessie McLennan. He was graduated from the high school of Marshall, Minnesota, took his pre-law work at the University of Minnesota; and in 1903 was graduated from the law department of the University of North Dakota.

Mr. McLennan opened his office for practice at Lidgerwood, North Dakota; but removed to Rolette County in 1905, opening a law office in the city of Rolette. In the fall of 1910 Mr. McLennan was elected states attorney for one term; and again elected states attorney in 1922, 1924, 1930, 1932, and 1938, being states attorney when he died.

During his residence in Rolette County, he served on the local school board, part time as president of the board. He was a member of the Presbyterian Church; and fraternally, of the Masonic Order and of the I. O. O. F.

On February 4, 1908, Mr. McLennan was united in marriage with Miss Maude McCutcheon of Bottineau, North Dakota. To this union were born four daughters—Miss Ione of Chicago, Illinois; Mrs. Bernard Hagen, Mrs. Joe Gefroh, and Miss Cathleen McLennan, all of Rolla. He is survived also by his wife; one sister, Mrs. H. D. Judd of Howard Lake, Minnesota; his one brother, Fred W. McLennan of Cottonwood, Minnesota; and two grandchildren.

Mr. McLennan was genial and friendly, interested in public affairs, and performed his full share of civic duty.

JOSEPH A. MCKEE

Your committee found it extremely difficult to get any definite information regarding this practicing lawyer who lived and practiced in Oakes, North Dakota. He was not a recluse, but he was extremely reticent with reference to his business and private affairs.

There is no definite information as to the time or place of his birth. The records from the University of Michigan show that Mr. McKee enrolled in the law school of that University on October 31, 1904; and in satisfaction of the entrance requirements, presented his certificate of graduation from Iowa College with the degree of PH. B. The application for enrollment gave the date of his birth as June 22, 1877. He completed his work there and received the degree of LL. B. with the class of 1907.

On June 6, 1908, he was admitted to the Bar in North Dakota by examination, registering from Grinnell, Iowa. About that time he went to Ashley and was in the office of Mr. A. W. Clyde of Ashley for a few months. He then went to Oakes and was in the office of Mr. Arthur P. Guy for some time, and then opened an office for himself in Oakes and practiced there until the day of his death.

About the first of the year 1940, while in St. Paul, he was taken ill. He was removed to a hospital there and died on February 23, 1940.

No immediate family is left in Oakes; and just what his family relations were, we can not state.

While in Oakes, he won and deserved the respect of his fellow citizens. Quiet, unassuming, persistent, reliable, he served his day and generation.

HENRY W. PHELPS

Mr. Henry W. Phelps, a pioneer attorney of Walsh County, died at Grafton, Friday, February 23, 1940.

He was born at Racine, Wisconsin, on May 16, 1860. There he received his preparatory education, and entered the University of Wisconsin for his law training. Shortly thereafter, he came to Dakota Territory, locating first at Caledonia, then at Bathgate. His stay in these towns was very short, for he came to Park River in the year 1884.

His brother, Mr. Jesse D. Phelps, was already a practicing lawyer at Minto in Walsh County; and in 1890 Mr. Henry W. Phelps formed a partnership with his brother and moved to Grafton. The brothers continued this partnership until the death of Mr. Jesse D. Phelps. Since then, Mr. Phelps practiced alone in Grafton.

In 1886 Mr. Phelps and Miss Alice C. Beecher were married at Park River. Of this union, four children survive—Miss Marguerite Phelps of Grafton; Messrs. Everett Phelps of Grafton, Herbert Phelps of Culver City, California, and Irving Phelps of Cedar Rapids, Iowa. And in addition, eleven grandchildren and one great grandchild.

Throughout all his career, Mr. Phelps was a faithful and ardent member of the Methodist church.

At the time of his death, the "News and Times" characterized his life by saying:

"Courage and relentless tenacity always characterized Mr. Phelps.

"In recent years when handicapped by physical disability, he displayed a most valiant effort in attending to his professional duties. With him it was not convenience or comfort, but the attainment of a desired objective.

"Like a typical pioneer, he fought bravely until utterly exhausted in death."

JAMES T. MCCULLOCH

Mr. James Thomas McCulloch was born in Westmoreland County, Pennsylvania, December 28, 1858; and died at Washburn, North Dakota, on March 8, 1940, thus being in his eighty-second year.

His early education was obtained in the common schools at his home until he was seventeen years of age, when he entered Delmont Academy, and later Westminster College at New Wilmington, Pennsylvania. Thereafter he studied law for two years with a law firm at Leechburg, Pennsylvania.

In 1884 Mr. McCulloch came to Minnesota and was principal of the public schools of New York Mills for one year and of Perham for four years. In 1890 he was admitted to the Bar in Minnesota and practiced law at Pelican Rapids. In 1898 he came to North Dakota, being the pioneer lawyer of Washburn. Two years later he was elected states attorney from McLean County, and held the position for two terms. His practice there was that of the ordinary small town lawyer in a growing community, for he lived in Washburn until the day of his death.

On August 28, 1887, Mr. McCulloch and Miss Hattie May Carnahan intermarried; and to this union were born one son, Hugh McCulloch, a lawyer associated with his father in practice and who preceded him in death; and three daughters, Miss Hazel McCulloch, head of the history department of the State Normal School at Minot; Miss Maxine McCulloch, head of the children's department of the public library at Decatur, Illinois; and Mrs. M. E. McCurdy of Fargo.

He is survived by his wife; these three daughters; a sister, Mrs. George Denny of Wilmington, Delaware; and a brother, John, of Apollo, Pennsylvania.

Mr. McCulloch came of old American stock. He was a member of the Sons of the American Revolution, and took pride in the work of that patriotic organization. He belonged to the Masonic Order, the Knights of Pythias, the Modern Woodmen, and the A.O.U.W.

Mr. McCulloch was a civic-minded citizen, so characteristic of the law profession. Though establishing an office in Washburn over forty years ago, he was interested in the development of the Missouri Valley; and in the very early days took up the matter of the irrigation of the Missouri flats, heading a commission in 1907 that was sent to Washington to confer with President Theodore Roosevelt.

Of all the citizens of Washburn, he was probably the most active in interesting Mr. W. D. Washburn of Minnesota in building the railroad from Bismarck to Washburn that afterwards became a branch of the Soo Line.

Mr. McCulloch had studied medicine for several years before deciding to study law, and this bent made him especially interested in all local health movements. He was a good classical scholar—read Greek and Latin, and spoke German. He excelled as an amateur botanist and biologist. His life was rich, helpful, and varied. In his religious life, Mr. McCulloch was a man of deep religious feeling, a life-long member of the United Presbyterian Church; but active in the work of other Christian churches also.

The partnership which for so many years existed between Mr. McCulloch and his son, Hugh McCulloch, was particularly strong because of the deep family affection existing between father and son; and the death of the youthful partner in October, 1939, was a shock to the father from which he never recovered.

WESLEY E. MATTHAEI

Mr. Wesley E. Matthaei, former state senator from the 33rd Legislative District, died at Harvey on May 26, 1940, from a heart attack.

He was born January 27, 1890, at Bushton, Kansas, the son of Rev. and Mrs. P. W. Matthaei. His early education was attained in the common schools of Kansas; and after completing this work, he entered the University of Kansas, graduating therefrom, and entering the University of Idaho for his legal training. Shortly after his graduation from the law department of the University of Idaho, he was admitted to the practice in that state, practicing at Arco, and later at Haley, until he came to Fessenden in Wells County about the year 1920.

Mr. Matthaei was elected a member of the state senate in 1928 and re-elected in 1932. In the senate he took a prominent and influential part. His political activities were marked by good judgment, with active and independent interest in the welfare of the state, and throughout the more or less bitter controversies, he retained the confidence of all parties.

Mr. Matthaei never married. Of his immediate family, he is survived by two brothers—Dr. D. W. Matthaei of Fessenden, and the Rev. M. H. Matthaei of Washington, Kansas; and two sisters—Dr. Pearl V. Matthaei of San Antonio, Texas (for some time connected with the state hospital for insane people at Jamestown), and Miss Lydia Matthaei of Great Bend, Kansas.

The funeral services were conducted in the First Baptist Church of Fessenden, and the remains were transported to Ellinwood, Kansas, for burial in the family lot there.

Fraternally, Mr. Matthaei belonged to the Masonic Order; and he was also an active member in the Civic Club of Fessenden.

Through his career, Mr. Matthaei always displayed an active interest in public affairs. He was agreeable, sociable, affable, and a fine gentleman to meet.

WILL H. CARLETON

Will H. Carleton, county judge of Griggs County, died at Cooperstown on July 7, 1940, in his eighty-seventh year, death being the result of pneumonia that followed an attack of bronchitis. For forty-one consecutive years he served as county judge of Griggs County; and so highly was he regarded that in all of the elections since 1904, he was unopposed.

The Sentinel-Courier of Cooperstown, in furnishing an account of the death of Mr. Carleton, describes him as "The pioneer farmer, lawyer and judge (who) came to the end of the trail in quiet fashion at his home in this city Sunday afternoon." This short sentence characterizes Mr. Carleton fully.

He came of a long line of distinguished ancestors, dating back to the time of the Norman conquest of England. The original ancestor came from Normandy and fought under the banner of William the Conqueror. The American branch of the Carleton family was founded by Edward Carleton, who came to Massachusetts colony in 1638.

Judge Carleton's father was a lieutenant in the Fourth Regiment of Michigan Volunteers and served in the Tennessee Campaign of the Civil War, leaving his wife and young family at home in Michigan while he served his country.

Judge Carleton was born at St. Clair, Michigan, on December 16, 1853, being the only boy in a family of three children. He worked on the farm in Michigan for many years, and then in the office of the county clerk of his county, where he became so familiar with law procedure, especially of the common law, that he was admitted to the Bar of Michigan. Ill health required him to go back to the farm, and later he decided to come to the western country.

In 1879 he married Miss Eliza Davis (who died in 1904), and the family came to Fargo on March 26, 1882. His arrival in Dakota Territory in that month was characterized by a typical March blizzard so that he was forced to tie up in a box car with his three horses, two cows, farm equipment, and the furniture. He was at Sanborn for two weeks before he arrived at his destination in Cooperstown township of Griggs County, where he had filed upon land.

For several years he was employed with several firms, particularly the Gull River Lumber Company; and he aided in the construction of a courthouse by hauling rock, brick, and cement.

Upon the death of County Judge Johnson in May, 1899, the county commissioners appointed Mr. Carleton as county judge; and he served in that capacity until the day of his death. Prior to this appointment, Judge Carleton was elected states attorney and held that office for two years, being defeated for re-election by the Hon. David Bartlett, later Lieutenant Governor of North Dakota.

In 1910 Judge Carleton married Mrs. Daisy A. Shue, a native of England, and she survives.

Fraternally, Judge Carleton was a member of the Masonic Order and of the M. W. A. Thus passed from earthly life a typical North Dakota pioneer—a man of firm conviction, integrity, and ability.

HENRY LEUM

State Senator Henry Leum of Mayville, the son of a prominent pioneer farmer, was killed in an automobile accident at Bellingham, Minnesota, on July 23, 1940. Mr. Leum was accompanying former Senator Frank Ployhar on a business trip to New Mexico, when a collision with a railroad train occurred at Bellingham, Mr. Leum dying shortly thereafter, and Mr. Ployhar being severely injured.

Mr. Leum was born near Mayville on May 9, 1886. He attended the common schools at Portland, North Dakota; Luther College in Iowa; and the University of South Dakota. Later he took advanced law work at the University of Christiania in Norway, and at Leipzig University, Germany. He returned to North Dakota in 1913 and was admitted to the Bar of this state on June 30, 1913.

In the same year he married Miss Clara Findal, who, with three sons, survives him. In addition, he leaves a brother and six sisters.

Mr. Leum was serving his first term in the State Senate, coming from the Eighth District. Prior thereto, he served one term in the State House of Representatives. During all of his mature career, he was widely interested in civic affairs at home and in his home county. For twenty-two years he had served the city of Mayville officially in various capacities, and was mayor of the city at the time he was elected to the legislature.

Mr. Leum was a member of the Lutheran Church, and funeral services were held at his home and from the church on July 27.

Mr. Leum was noted for his integrity, his loyal interest in his community and state, and his work as a citizen. He will be missed in his home community and in the state legislature.

JOSEPH A. MONTGOMERY

Mr. Joseph A. Montgomery, Clerk of the Federal District Court in North Dakota, died at his home in Fargo on February 25, 1939. The funeral services were held from the E. F. Moore funeral home in Fargo with Dean S. J. Hedelund of Moorhead and Dean John Richardson of Gethsemane in Fargo officiating.

Mr. Montgomery was born in Chicago, Illinois, November 13, 1859, and thus was in his eightieth year at the time of his death. In the early 80's he came to Minnesota and was admitted to the Bar there, practicing in Moorhead for several years. In 1888 he was named Deputy Clerk of the United States Territorial Court, and he served with the Territorial Court at Bismarck. He was admitted to the Bar of this state on January 16, 1890, on his Territorial certificate. When the Federal District Court for North Dakota was organized and established in Fargo, he was appointed clerk on March 21, 1890, and served continuously as such clerk until the day of his death.

Not only was he popularly said to be the oldest federal court clerk in the nation in point of service; but he had the distinction of serving under three noted federal judges—Judge Alfred D.

Thomas, Judge Charles F. Amidon (both preceding him in death), and Judge Andrew Miller.

As clerk of this court, his record is an open book to all the lawyers who practiced in that court. Genial, affable, industrious, intelligent, an expert in his line, Clerk Montgomery is missed by the brethren of his profession.

Mr. Montgomery's activities were not confined to his court duties. He was very active in the B. P. O. E., was a past exalted ruler of the Fargo lodge, and a life member of the organization.

The survivors are Mrs. Montgomery and their only child, Howard, a son who lived at home with the family.

For several months before his death, Mr. Montgomery had been in poor health; and about seven weeks prior to his death, he suffered a fall which chipped a bone in his shoulder. The resultant shock of the frame, debilitated by the continued poor health of the prior months, was too much for the weakened frame, and so he passed to the Great Beyond.

SUPPLEMENTAL REPORT

Since filing our report, conditions have arisen requiring some changes to be made in statements, as shown by our supplemental report.

Because of the death of Mr. Thomas F. McDonald, reference to the gamut of ages should show the youngest who died to be thirty-one.

In addition, we have prepared and filed the obituary of Mr. Nels O. Dolve, and what information we could gather regarding Judge Sauter.

THOMAS FRANCIS McDONALD

Thomas Francis McDonald was born in Mandan, North Dakota, on September 21, 1908, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles McDonald, old time residents of the western part of the state.

Mr. McDonald was educated in the Mandan schools, being graduated from the high school there in 1925. Shortly afterwards he entered St. Thomas University and was graduated therefrom in 1930, having studied in the law department of that University. On July 11, 1930, he was admitted to practice in this state upon examination, having barely attained the minimum age requirement, and was the youngest practicing attorney in the state at the time, if not the youngest person ever to be admitted to the practice in this state.

Mr. McDonald opened an office at Fort Yates in Sioux County and remained there for three years. He then moved to his home town of Mandan, where he practiced for one year. After being in private practice for about a year, he became associated with the Home Owners Loan Corporation as counsel, with his office at Minot and later at Bismarck. While in Bismarck, he was offered and accepted the position of office manager of the Bismarck branch of the Federal Housing Association; and then in about two and one-half years, he re-opened an office in Mandan.

During the 1937 session of the legislature, Mr. McDonald was secretary of the State Senate and later was appointed as State Tax Deputy of the State Tax Department in the early part of 1939.

In the fall of 1939, Mr. McDonald went to Washington, where he took an intensive course in the governmental census school, and in November of 1939 was appointed State Census Director for North Dakota, with headquarters at Mandan.

While making a final trip throughout the state, visiting the various district offices and on his way to Minneapolis to consult with regional officials, preparatory to closing the work, he was killed on August 7, 1940, in an automobile accident occurring between Moorhead and Barnesville, Minnesota. Funeral services were conducted on August 10 from the St. Joseph Catholic Church of Mandan, and interment was made in the cemetery of that city.

On September 15, 1928, Mr. McDonald was married to Miss Alice Cahoon of St. Paul, who, with four children—two boys and two girls—survives him. He is survived also by his mother, still a resident of Mandan.

Our report includes also the obituary of his brother, John Kenneth McDonald, who died in California on December 12, 1939; and thus the two sons of the family—companions in the same profession—passed to the Great Beyond within a year of each other.

NELS O. DOLVE

On Friday, June 18, 1937, Nels O. Dolve died in a Fargo hospital which he had entered a month or so before.

Born on August 26, 1881, on a farm south of Hatton, Mr. Dolve received his early education in the rural school near his home. He then entered the Mayville Normal School, afterwards transferring to Luther College at Decorah, Iowa, and the University of North Dakota. In 1907 the latter institution gave him the degrees of B. A. and LL. B. He was admitted to practice on June 8, 1907, and opened a law office at Velva in this state. Here he remained in the practice of law until 1918 when he removed to Towner, the county seat, and served as deputy sheriff for several years and later as the Tax Supervisor of McHenry County. In 1921 he joined the legal department of the T. L. Beiseker financial institutions at Fessenden and was connected with them for many years. In 1935 he served as a social worker for the Benson County Welfare Board, with his headquarters at Minnewaukan.

Mr. Dolve was buried from the St. John's Lutheran church of Hatton, the body being interred in the family lot in the Hatton cemetery. He is survived by his mother; two sons—S. H. Dolve, a practicing lawyer at Fessenden, and Nels O. Dolve, Jr., an electrical engineer. He left also three brothers—Lewis G. Dolve, a farmer living south of Hatton; Ole Dolve of Hatton; and R. M. Dolve, who was then Dean of the Division of Electrical Engineering at the North Dakota Agricultural College. Two sisters also survive—Mrs. A. M. Eberle of Brookings, South Dakota; and Mrs. E. N. Cobb of Rapid City, South Dakota.

Mr. Dolve was a pleasant, agreeable, affable, industrious lawyer, and won the respect of everyone with whom he was associated.

Through some unintentional oversight, the record of Mr. Dolve has not been made a part of the permanent record in the proceedings of this Association, and thus we add his obituary to our committee report.

JUDGE OTTO EDWARD SAUTER

Judge Sauter, as he will be remembered by any associates here, was born in Chicago, Illinois, September 16, 1859, one of a family of five sons. His father, Jacob Sauter, emigrated to the United States from Alsace-Lorraine. His mother's maiden name was Anna Smith.

His education was obtained in the public and high schools of the city of Chicago. He read law in the office of Cleveland and Heaton of Osage, Iowa, was admitted to the Bar of that state in 1881, and entered the senior class of the law department of the University of Michigan, graduating therefrom in 1882. It was always a matter of pride with him that one of his professors was the famous Thomas M. Cooley.

Upon graduation Judge Sauter came to Dakota Territory, settling in Grafton June 1, 1882. Shortly thereafter the law firm of Cleland and Sauter was formed, which partnership existed until 1893, when he formed a partnership with J. H. Fraine, which continued until 1895.

A state paper informs us that he was the first justice of the peace in Grafton and he took front rank among the lawyers of those early days.

In 1895 one of the townships in Walsh County was organized and named Sauter Township in honor of him.

When the old Seventh Judicial District was created in 1895, Governor Allin appointed him the first judge of the district, and in the fall of 1896 he was elected to that office for a term of four years. He was succeeded by Judge Kneeshaw, who ever since has been judge of the district which included Walsh County.

Shortly after his official career terminated and, as far as we can ascertain, in the following year Judge Sauter moved to Seattle, Washington. The information given us by the Executive Secretary of the Washington State Bar Association states that Mr. Sauter was admitted to the Bar of Washington October 17, 1905, and remained an active member of the association until 1937 or 1938. In 1938, having retired from the practice of law, he moved to Redwood City, California, and lived at the home of a daughter until he died July 12, 1940.

From information received from his daughter Judge Sauter was elected a delegate to the Republican National Convention of 1892, which nominated Benjamin Harrison for President of the United States. During all of his active career Judge Sauter was interested in all civic and state matters. He represented various railroads as their counsel and was active in political life.

In 1884 Judge Sauter was married to Miss Mary McCarthy of St. Ansgar, Iowa; but she died many years ago. He is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Bosshardt of Redwood City, California, and Mrs. C. J. Dunlap of Seattle, Washington.

Such members of the North Dakota Bar Association as Judge Kneeshaw, H. A. Libby, W. H. Barnett and James E. Gray will well remember Judge Sauter, having undoubtedly been associated with him in the prosecution of cases and also appearing before him when he was district judge.

APPENDIX

CONSTITUTION AND BY-LAWS OF THE STATE BAR
ASSOCIATION OF NORTH DAKOTA
AS AMENDED

Creation of Bar Association: In compliance with the provisions of an act passed at the 17th session of the Legislative Assembly of the state of North Dakota, approved March 11, 1921, entitled "An Act to Create, Define and Establish the Bar Association of the State of North Dakota," and for other purposes incident thereto, the membership of the Bar Association of North Dakota, in annual session assembled, adopts the following constitution and by-laws:

ARTICLE I

Name: The name of this Association is the Bar Association of North Dakota.

ARTICLE II

Objects: The objects of this Association shall be to promote the administration of justice, uphold the honor of the profession of the law, and encourage cordial intercourse among the members of the State Bar.

ARTICLE III

Membership: The membership of this Association shall consist of all practicing attorneys who have paid their annual dues and received their license from the clerk of the State Bar Board, of the State of North Dakota, and all other attorneys who have been duly admitted to practice by the Supreme Court of this state and are by law exempt from the payment of dues, and all such members shall be entitled to all the rights and privileges of the Association and to vote and participate in the business transacted at its meetings.

ARTICLE IV

Officers: The officers of this Association shall be a president, Vice President, and Secretary-Treasurer, who shall be elected at the annual meeting of the Association and hold their offices until the next annual meeting succeeding their election.

ARTICLE V

Executive Committee: The Executive Committee shall consist of the President and Vice President of this Association and the Presidents of the several District Bar Associations of the state as such districts are now or may hereafter be organized, and the President whose term of office expires in the preceding year shall likewise be a member of the Executive Committee for a period until the next annual meeting after the expiration of his term as President of the Association. In the event that any such District Bar Association shall not have a duly elected President, then the President of this Association shall appoint, from the territory covered by said District Bar Association, a member for said Executive Committee. The representative of such District Bar Association shall serve upon such Executive Committee until the next annual meeting of this Association, notwithstanding the election of a new President of such District Bar Association. The Secretary-Treasurer of this Association shall act as Secretary of the Executive Committee, but he shall have no vote.

ARTICLE VI

Duties of the Officers: The duties of the officers of this Association shall be such as usually devolve upon officers of like organizations.

ARTICLE VII

Duties of the Executive Committee: The duties of the Executive Committee shall be such as may from time to time be imposed upon it by the by-laws of this Association.

ARTICLE VIII

Standing Committees: It shall be the duty of the President to appoint, with the concurrence of a majority of the Executive Committee, such standing committees of the Association, as may from time to time be provided for by the by-laws of this Association, such appointments to be made immediately after the annual meeting each year, and such other committees as may be deemed necessary by him from time to time, with the concurrence of the Executive Committee.

ARTICLE IX

Referendum: Whenever a petition signed by not less than thirty members of this Association shall be presented to the President, asking that a vote of the members of the Association be had on any measure affecting the public interest, state or national, or by way of indorsement of candidates for judicial or other office, the President and Executive Committee shall forthwith and within ten days provide for the submission of such question or measure to a vote of the members by the postal ballot, the details of which shall be prescribed by the Executive Committee. Such referendum shall be by secret ballot and thirty days from date of mailing, the ballots shall be allowed for completion of the votes. At the expiration of that time the ballots shall be canvassed by the President and Secretary, and by a Judge of the Supreme Court or District Court to be selected by the President, and the result shall be published at the capital of this state. No expression of approval or disapproval by this Bar Association on any such measure or candidacy shall be given in any other manner.

ARTICLE X

Amendments: This constitution may be amended at any annual meeting by a two-thirds vote of the members present upon amendments which have been suggested at a previous annual meeting; or amendments which have been suggested at the next preceding annual meeting.

BAR BRIEFSARTICLE XI

Quorum: A quorum of any regular meeting or special meeting shall consist of twenty-five members.

BY-LAWSARTICLE I

Meetings: Sec. 1. Regular Meetings. This Association shall meet at least once each year, at such time and place as shall be designated for that purpose by the Executive Committee.

Sec. 2. Special Meetings. Whenever the exigency presents itself, the president of this Association may, and on request of any twenty members in writing, shall call a special meeting of the Association at a time and place to be designated by him.

Sec. 3. Notice of Meetings. The Secretary shall send notices of the time so selected to each member by mail at least ten days before the date of meeting.

ARTICLE II

Dues: No payment of annual dues shall be required of members of this Association if the appropriation from time to time made by the Legislative Assembly shall be sufficient to defray the legitimate expenses of the Association, but assessments of not to exceed one dollar for each member may be made upon the resolution adopted by a majority vote at an annual meeting or at any special meeting if due notice be given in the call for such special meeting that such assessment will be proposed.

ARTICLE III

Duties of the Executive Committee. The Executive Committee shall make all necessary arrangements for the meeting of the Association, and provide in their discretion for its entertainment, prepare the programs for its proceedings, audit all bills against the Association, and the accounts of the Secretary-Treasurer, and perform such other duties as may be required by the Association. The Executive Committee shall have full power and authority in the interval between meetings of the Association to do all acts and perform all functions which the Association itself might do or perform, except that it shall have no power to amend the constitution or by-laws.

ARTICLE IV

Duties of the Secretary-Treasurer: The Secretary-Treasurer shall keep correct and full report of the proceedings of the meetings of the Association and of its Executive Committee and shall collect and receive all money appropriated by the state or otherwise collected on assessments of the membership, and keep true and correct account of the same, and shall pay out such moneys on the order of the Executive Committee from time to time and upon vouchers drawn by the President and Secretary, and he shall make a full and detailed report of all receipts and disbursements accompanied by the vouchers and paid checks, to be submitted to the Executive Committee and to the next annual meeting after his election, and he shall file in the office of the clerk of the State Bar Board a duplicate of such itemized statement of receipts and disbursements. The Secretary-Treasurer shall give a surety bond in the sum of two thousand dollars running to the state of North Dakota, the premium on which shall be paid by the Association. Said bond shall be conditioned for the faithful accounting by him for all funds and property which may come into his hands by virtue of his office, and for the delivery thereof to his successor at the expiration of his term of office. The Secretary-Treasurer shall receive as compensation for his service such sums as may be fixed or allowed from time to time by the Executive Committee.

ARTICLE V

Standing Committees: There shall be appointed annually by the President immediately after his election, the following standing committees:

1. Jurisprudence and Law Reform.
2. Legal Education and Admission to the Bar.
3. Legislative Committee.

The duties of the committees shall be as follows:

1. Jurisprudence and Law Reform. The committee upon jurisprudence and law reform shall receive and consider from any member of the Bar of the state at any time proposed amendments to the code, and shall at each meeting of the Association report what changes, if any, have been made by the Legislature since the last meeting, and any modifications of the rules of practice that shall have been made by the Supreme Court and in addition to such reports shall recommend such changes in the code and in the practice as shall seem to said committee to be proper and advantageous to the end of securing a proper reform of the laws.

Three weeks prior to the date of any annual meeting it shall file with the Secretary of this Association a statement of the matters upon which it will recommend Legislative action, such statement to embody all proposed amendments to existing laws and all new laws recommended by such committees, and that upon filing such statement the Secretary shall cause the same to be printed or typewritten and that he forthwith mail a copy thereof to each member of this Association.

2. Legal Education. The committee on legal education and admission to the Bar shall confer with and recommend to the faculty of the School of Law of the State University a suitable course of study to be pursued as a qualification for admission to the Bar, and shall also confer with and recommend to the Supreme Court a standard of education and qualification to be adhered to as a pre-requisite to admission to the Bar, and shall report in regard to such matters at each meeting of the Bar Association.

3. Legislative Committee. There shall be appointed, by the President, for a term of two years a Legislative Committee of fifteen members of which the President of this Association will be chairman. The duties of said committee shall be to properly formulate all propositions approved by the Association for the enactment of new laws or the alteration and amendment of existing statutes, to supervise and direct the due presentment and course in the Legislature of legislative bills formulated by it at the next succeeding session of said Legislature, and to use, in the name of the Association, every honorable means and influence to secure the passage and enactment into a law of the measures so introduced.

ARTICLE VI

Compensation: No officer other than the Secretary-Treasurer shall receive compensation for his services, but the expenses of the officers of the Association and the members of the Executive Committee who shall attend the regular or special meetings of the Association, or duly called meetings of the Executive Committee, shall be paid out of the funds received from the State Bar Board as provided by law. Such payment shall be made upon the detailed statement to be rendered by each officer, or committeeman showing the actual cash expenses of attendance at each meeting or such meetings.

ARTICLE VII

Additional Committees: In addition to the standing committees provided by Article 5 there shall be appointed by the President, with the concurrence of the Executive Committee, such other committees as shall be necessary from time to time to effectively accomplish the purpose for which this Association is organized and to carry out the work undertaken by the Association at its annual meeting.

ARTICLE VIII

The Executive Committee shall select twice as many names as there are nominees for the Bar Board to be submitted to the Supreme Court. Attorneys may make additional nominations by a petition signed by ten men, and filed with the Secretary. Reasonable notice shall be given in Bar Briefs of the time when such petition must be filed. The Secretary shall then prepare the ballot, which shall contain the statement "nominated by petition" after all names so nominated. The ballot shall be mailed to each member of the Association thirty days before the day when it must be returned, of which date notice shall be given by the Secretary when sending out the ballot. The President shall appoint a canvassing committee to canvass the ballots. Those receiving the highest number of votes, up to the number of nominees to be chosen, shall be presented to the Supreme Court as nominees of this Association for members of the Bar Board.

ARTICLE IX

Member of House of Delegates of American Bar Association: There shall be elected in each odd numbered year one delegate to serve as a member of the House of Delegates of the American Bar Association, who shall hold his office for a period of two (2) years after his election, or until his successor has been elected by the State Bar Association, and whose duties shall conform to those prescribed by the American Bar Association and State Bar Association, and it shall be his duty to attend the annual meetings of the American Bar Association until his successor is elected. The actual expenses of said delegate so elected in attending such meetings of the American Bar Association shall be paid by this Association.

ARTICLE X

Amendments: These by-laws may be amended at any time by a majority vote of the members present and voting at any regular meeting of the Association.
